

MAUGHAN IS GIVEN PRAISE AFTER VOYAGE

Intrepid Airman Is Banqueted in San Francisco For His Great Flight

PLANS TO FLY BACK

San Francisco, June 25.—Lieut. Russell L. Maughan, intrepid airman, quietly revealed at the end of the rainbow yesterday. The spars, smiling army pilot, walked along a path that has been made in fete for him, while the city was still vibrant with the realization of his great adventure in spanning the continent in a single day.

Arriving here from New York at 9:47 o'clock Monday after 14 hours and 20 minutes in the air, with a few brief lapses, the doughty lieutenant was "thrust" at the "home" of Lieutenant Colonel William E. Gillmore on the presidio reservation, with the din and clatter of his uproarious welcome still ringing in his ears. Colonel Gillmore, who headed the welcoming forces, is chief of the army air forces here.

Had Restless Sleep
He awoke yesterday at 5 in a look after tossing in bed, the melody of strong head winds whining around the struts, the pounding of the motor and the cheering of the crowds remaining in his subconsciousness after sleep had come. He went back to sleep again, however, and finally appeared in bathrobe and slippers to greet newsmen. Later, he sat down to breakfast with Colonel Gillmore, lingering over a California cantaloupe.

He thrust the coffee aside. He never drinks it, he said. Neither does he smoke or chew.

A long interview with the newspaper people followed. "I am going to fly back," he said. "I am going to return by easy stages and expect to stop for a time in Washington."

"It was tough trying to fight sleep. The buzz of the engine synchronizes with the drone of the wind as you go along and they make up a great little lullaby. It's agony—fighting that feeling of drowsiness."

"Then I got sick too. I fought nausea nearly all the way. It is a peculiarity with me. Few other airmen appear to have it. The machine is not to blame for it."

"I figure that it cost about $102 for gasoline and oil for the trip. The plane itself cost about $12,000."

Was Wonderful Welcome
"I landed before I landed last night just to take in the whole scene and the 'feel' of it. It looked like there were 50,000 people down there waiting to greet me. It was a wonderful welcome."

After the interview and a brief period of rest in which he read many telegrams, including one from President Coolidge, he was taken by Colonel Gillmore to a hotel where the American Legion received him at a luncheon. He then made a brief address on his achievement over one of the big radio stations and thereafter was taken back to the presidio for more sleep.

Last night he appeared at a banquet of the army and navy club.

HIRAM PLANS TO STAGE HIS COMEBACK SOON

BY GEORGE D. MANN

Los Angeles, Cal., June 25.—Hiram Johnson is going to stage a fight to regain his lost prestige in California. He announces that he is coming home to attempt to defeat the present state administration and seek to create out of its debacle a new machine which will keep him in power when his present term expires.

The "stand" group here declare that he cannot come back into political power but that his opposition to Coolidge and the Republican program as embodied by the White House has placed him in the duck class.

Feeling here toward McAdoo who resides in this city most unpromptly in comparison to the paucity of the newly rich about his has not that fire or enthusiasm that usually goes out to a presidential candidate from the city of his adoption.

It is not felt that McAdoo if nominated will be a strong contender in California against Coolidge despite the fact that he claims this state as his residence. Sentiment here seems very strong for Calvin Coolidge but political observers declare that third party plans might spoil matters for the Republicans in the nation. They see little to fear as far as California is concerned, where nineteen votes thanks to Hiram Johnson swung this state into the Democratic column eight years ago. They look for a Republican majority in 1924.

Germany Is Regaining Trade With Argentina

Buenos Aires, June 25. (A. P.)—The German flag sailed on an easy arc in Argentine's grade before the war and despite the surrender of the German mercantile marine, it has almost regained that position since the signing of the peace treaty, according to shipping statistics just published. The premier place is still held by the British, whose vessels as presently have about 45 per cent of Argentina's foreign trade.

It probably will be a close thing between the Italians and Germans as to who will occupy second place in Argentina's carrying trade this year, but it is believed that the Germans will win back their old position in the course of two or three years as every month sees a German liner in these waters. France and the United States would appear to be dropping back in the race. Germany, etc. operating by thousands to Argentina, which attords special incentives and attractions for them. Quite a number of German colonies are springing up, especially in north Argentina, and these create a natural trade with their homeland. Also they give plenty of scope for expansion to the German steamship lines, who also have been lately specializing in what may be termed second class or the class passenger steamers. German vessels today bring the greater proportion of north European passengers to Argentina.

LONGWORTH PRAISES HOUSE
Declares That It Did Work Well in Session
Washington, June 25.—Reviewing accomplishments at the last session of congress, Representative Longworth, of Ohio, Republican leader, declared in a statement that the record of the house was "decidedly creditable and noteworthy." The house, he added, had "proved itself to be in so far as fiscal affairs were concerned, as intended by the constitution, the dominant body of the legislative branch of the government."

Predicting speedy enactment at the next session of reclamation legislation which was blocked in the closing hours of the last session by a filibuster in the senate, Mr. Longworth criticized senate rules of procedure "which permit one individual by the exercise of lung power alone to thwart the will of practically both houses."

Referring to farm relief legislation, he declared the failure of the Norbeck-Burns bill in the senate and rejection by the house of the McNary-Haugen measure was due largely to the fact that farm organizations were unable to come together upon the precise measure which would afford the relief desired.

TO LAY CHURCH CORNER STONE
Dickinson, N. D., June 25.—Laying of the cornerstone of the new $55,000 Congregational church, now under construction at First Avenue West and Fourth Street, will take place Sunday afternoon, June 29. Rev. James Elvin, pastor, announced following a conference with the church board.

Dickinson lodge No. A. F. & A. M. will lay the stone with full ritual.

M'ADOO MUST HIT KLAN TO GET N. D. VOTE

McConnell Says He'll Swing Delegation Unless Action Is Obtained

The following story on the North Dakota delegation at the Democratic National convention is from the Minneapolis Journal:

New York, June 25.—The Ku Klux Klan became an important issue in the North Dakota delegation today when D. J. O'Connell of Towson announced that unless McAdoo openly disavowed the hooded order he would vote on the first ballot for Governor Alfred E. Smith for president regardless of the delegates' instructions for McAdoo.

The announcement was a distinct blow to McAdoo hopes in North Dakota and presages a further trend of delegates to the Smith column. In fact Smith boosters are claiming six votes out of 10 in the early balloting of the North Dakota delegation with chances of further increasing the number by the time nominations are made on Friday.

"Realizing that the North Dakota voters instructed their delegation for McAdoo," said Mr. O'Connell in explaining his declaration. "But that was before this question of the Klan, an un-American organization, was raised. North Dakota is not un-American and I feel that the voters will stand by me in my decision to cast my vote on instructions and to vote against one who will not disown the Klan."

"Furthermore, I can frankly state this as to my position toward McAdoo. I was the man in the state democratic convention who moved and spoke at length for his endorsement. I made such a motion only as a reply to those from the outside who were attacking McAdoo because of his relations to the teapot dome scandal. I felt that it would help in nullifying those charges and spoke at length on the motion which carried. Personally, I believe that if the North Dakota voters knew the close relation existing between the Klan and McAdoo they would do exactly as I have done."

Practically, the whole delegation is intense on the Klan issue which appears to be spreading to other western delegations.

Two automobiles bearing North Dakota delegates arrived at convention headquarters yesterday. Sveinbjorn Johnson, justice of the Supreme Court at Bismarck, and Mrs. Johnson, national committeewoman, came by auto with stops at Gettysburg to view the battlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McCoy also arrived after two weeks on the road from their home in Washington. Justice Johnson has been given the proxy of National Committeewoman H. S. Perry of Allendale, who is absent, and will represent North Dakota on the national committee during the convention. John Tabor of Jamestown, has the distinction of being the oldest North Dakotan to register at headquarters. He is 81 years old and "just couldn't help wanting to see one of the greatest democratic conventions ever held."

GLAND THEORY IS OVERRATED
Chicago, June 25.—Rejuvenation by transplantation of any kind of glands was branded as mythology before the surgery section of the American Medical Association, by Dr. Clarence A. McWilliams, New York, surgeon.

subject in relation to skin grafts or grafts of internal organs from one creature to another.

"In numerous instances I can point out where the uniform result is the disappearance of the grafted tissues," Dr. McWilliams asserted. "The scientific reason is that between animals of the same species, even, there are unknown biological differences that prevent the survival of the transplanted tissues. Reported successes would indicate that these grafted organs 'seem to take,' but they suddenly disappear in a few weeks at the most."

"The same facts govern the grafting of skin from one individual to another. In order to grow, skin must be taken from the same person. Apparent 'success of other individuals' grafts is explained by the fact that the patient's own skin grows under the transplant and pushes it aside."

"Plastic surgery holds the greatest promise to those having either congenital or unfortunately acquired facial deformities," he added. "A hideous deformity may be transformed into a scarcely noticeable disfigurement."

ROTARY HEARS CUSTER STORY

W. A. Falconer Talks at Luncheon Today

F. L. Conklin presided over the Rotary luncheon this noon at which the attendance was about 76 per cent. He, with John French and A. F. Bradley stressed the importance of attendance at the Dairy Circuit Picnic at Menoken Grove tomorrow.

Masted Edward Singbell was given warm welcome on his return from his visit in St. Paul as the guest of St. Paul Rotary. A letter from Rotarian "Gus" Brand of St. Paul was read by Fred Conklin and we were glad to learn from the contents that Edward had made a very good impression on his St. Paul hosts.

The meeting was then turned over to Hal Dobler as chairman of the program committee. Roy Logan officiated over C. L. Young's birthday celebration and C. L. Young in turn properly plastered Roy Logan in commemoration of the latter's natal day.

W. A. Falconer gave a splendid talk on Custer and the Custer Massacre which occurred 48 years ago today. He emphasized apparently minor military expeditions in violation of Indian treaties, beef contractors and other Indian grievances that culminated in the massacre; and gave a graphic account of the distribution of the troops and the other blunders which were direct causes of the tragedy.

The guests were: N. D. Gorman, N. D. County Agent Leader who is here for the Dairy Circuit picnic, W. W. Stephenson, Stockton, Ill., W. D. Falconer and L. P. Wolf of St. Paul, and Thorn Dickinson who have been vitally connected with the completion of the new city water plant.

NESTOS VOTES AT MINOT TODAY

Minot, N. D., June 25.—Governor R. A. Nestos, candidate for reelection on the gubernatorial chair, cast his ballot at his home precinct at Minot this forenoon. He will remain in Minot until late tomorrow, thence going to Fargo where he

While somewhat fatigued by the speaking campaign that he has waged during the past few weeks, Governor Nestos said today that his voice is in better condition than at the close of any preceding campaign.

PROPOSED COAL RATES SCHEDULE

Interstate Commerce Commission Makes Recommendations

A schedule of rates on lignite coal, suggested by the examiner for the interstate commerce commission, as a possible basis in establishing a new schedule, has been received in Fargo.

This new schedule was suggested by the examiner for the I. C. C. in the case in which the commission ordered the railroad to cancel the proposed increased rates announced last fall, and which were suspended by both the I. C. C. and the state railroad commission.

In this case, while the commission found that the proposed rates were too high, they also found that the present rates are too low, and suggested an entirely new schedule. This new schedule is merely a suggestion, and would boost all present rates materially. It is expected that there will be strong objections to the proposed schedule on the part of the mine operators and the consumers, but it is believed that some compromise basis may be worked out from it.

G. E. Peterson, traffic commissioner of the Fargo Commercial club has prepared the following table which shows in the first column the mileage from various mining towns to Fargo; in the second column the present rates; in the third column the rate proposed by the railroad commission; and in the fourth column the new rate suggested as a compromise basis by the commission's examiner.

MANY STATES HAVE GAS TAX

35 States in Union Assess Such a Tax

According to recent figures given in a survey of the gas tax situation in the United States, North Dakota is one of 35 states having such a tax. The state is one of nine having a one cent tax on gas; thirteen states having no gas tax; seventeen having a tax of two cents; eight having a tax of three cents; and one, Arkansas, having a gas tax of four cents.

Utah has a tax of two and one-half cents and the levy in Massachusetts is subject to a referendum next November, the survey adds.

"That the 'painless' gas tax' system of raising funds for highway construction is looked upon with favor by highway authorities is clearly demonstrated by the fact that 35 states have adopted that method," said W. G. Black, Chief Engineer of the State Highway Commission in commenting upon the survey today.

Of the 19 states to first adopt the gas tax, 13 have since increased the rate in order to secure a larger portion of the road constructing funds by that plan. Seventeen states adopted the plan last year," he continued.

Highway authorities in all of the states which do not have the gas tax method of taxing for road construction predict that their states will soon fall in line, and that those states having the greatest number of tourists will be the next to adopt the plan, according to Mr. Black.

FAMED SHEIK HAS BECOME A LEGEND

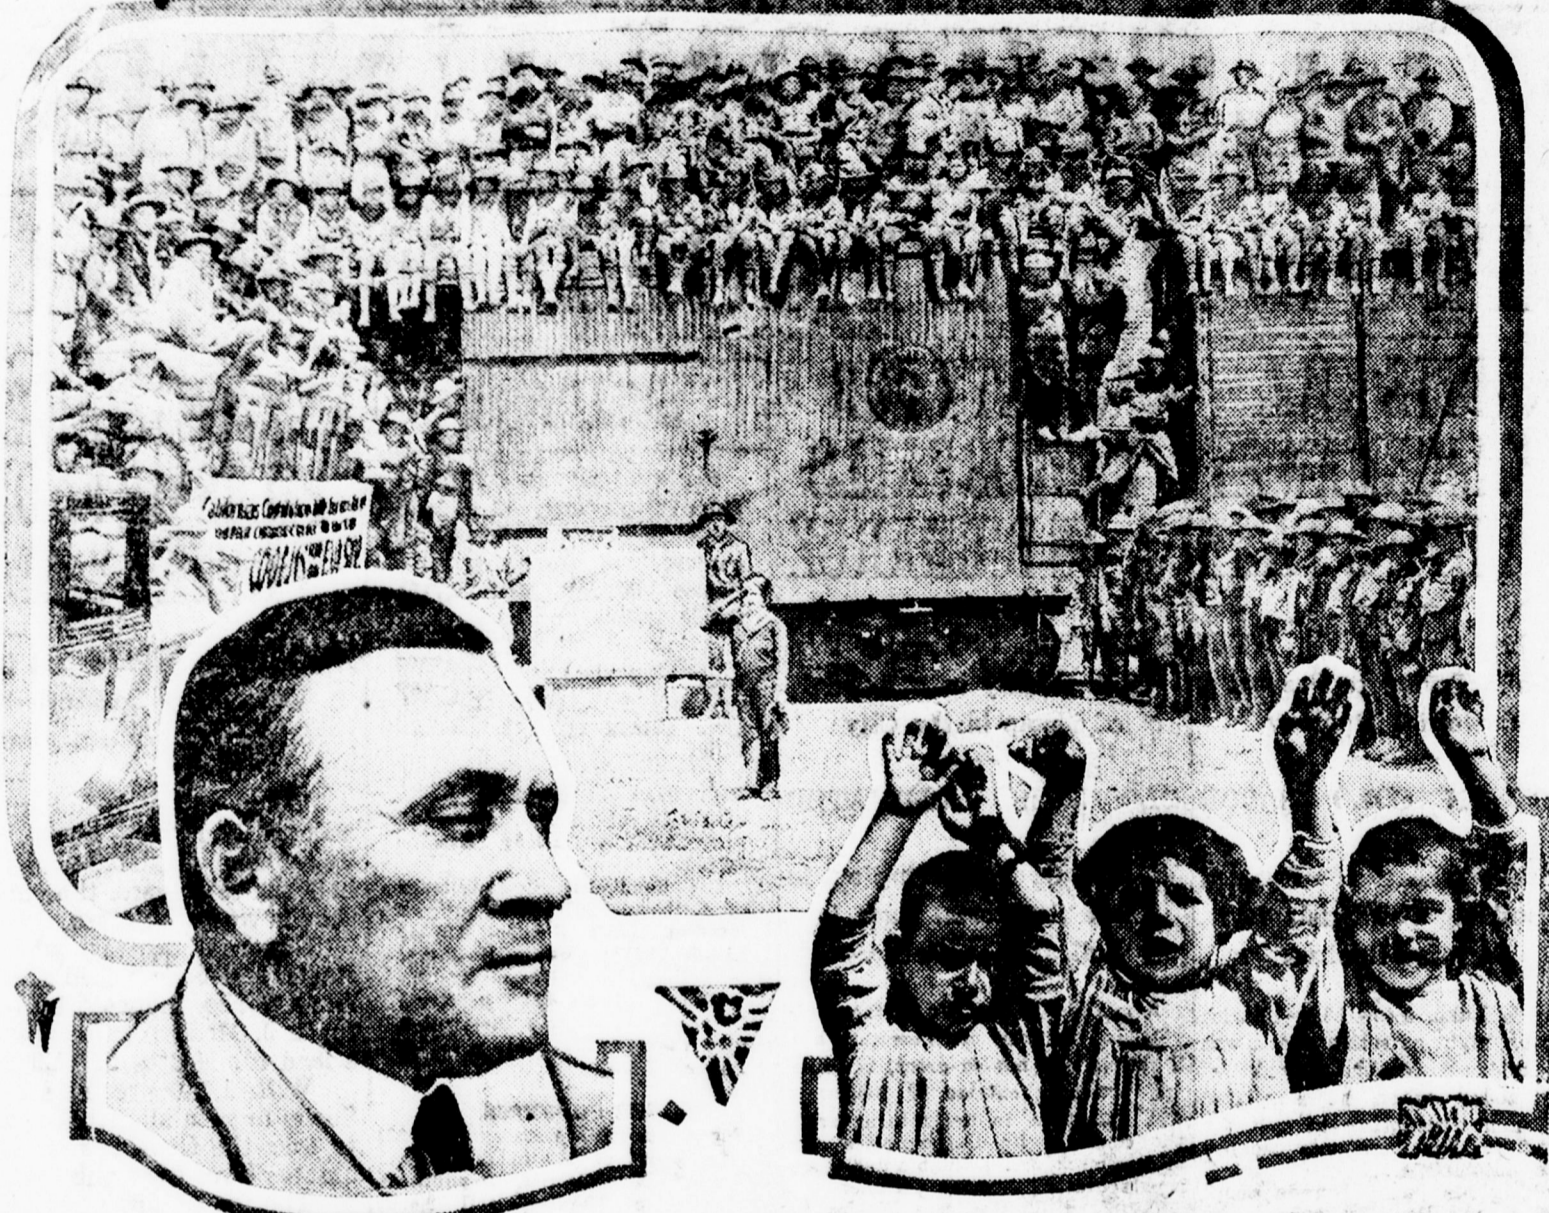

Tagier, Morocco, June 26. (A. P.)—Raisuli, the Robin Hood of Morocco, who inspired John Hay's "Perdians alive or Raisuli dead," which provoked wild applause in the Republican National convention at Chicago 20 years ago, has ceased to be a great international issue. He has become almost a legend.

Raisuli has quit kidnapping prominent Englishmen and Americans for ransom, and is living in retirement at Tazrut, in the heart of Morocco, surrounded by faithful followers who he supports from the proceeds of his years of brigandage and the funds Germany supplied to him for the purpose of keeping the anti-French native tribes in a state of ferment during the great war.

Isn't Perdians, the wealthy American whom Raisuli kidnapped from his villa in Tangier and carried into the Atlas Mountains, died in the United States several years ago. Sir Harry MacLean, the English chief of the sultan's bodyguard, whom Raisuli kidnapped and held prisoner for seven months, has been forgotten by newspaper readers. But Raisuli is such a picturesque figure that even in retirement he is not forgotten.

There are frequent rumors that the former bandit may be induced to enter the movies. Foreign women make pilgrimages to Tazrut in the American Youngsters Mobilize to Aid "Jackie" Coogan's Mercy Mission

AFTER a lapse of almost eight hundred years the world soon is to witness another Children's Crusade.

The first was inaugurated in the thirteenth century when armies of children, began to mobilize in France and Germany. Instead of swords they carried palm scrolls and prayer beads. They planned to convert the Moslems and restore to Christianity the holy places of the Church in Palestine. The movement ended in disaster and the only members of this first crusade to reach the Holy Lands, arrived as slaves of the Saracens.

The Second Crusade has just been organized. It started in Kansas, backed west to the Pacific Coast, and soon will start from the west across country to New York and the Levant. Its leader will be America's best known and most typical boy—Jackie Coogan, the screen star of international fame. Its personnel will be limited to not more than a dozen, including Jackie's parents.

But the movement will represent many times the number actually mobilized for the first crusade. It will represent the children of America, who, says Jackie, will be on an errand of mercy rather than one of war; one directed not against Moslems but against mightier forces—those of Hunger and Disease—which are now threatening the youngsters of the Bible Lands. More than a million children throughout the country are now assembling the ammunition for the small party that actually will embark.

Before their task is finished they will have gathered more than a million dollars worth of food. Approximately 50,000 cans of milk have been collected already. All over the country youngsters are busy piling up supplies at the railroad stations to be loaded on special trains that will carry them to the Atlantic Seaboard. Then they will be loaded on a special steamship—the gift ship of the Children of America to the orphan waifs of the Near East.

Recently William A. (Bill) Bibb

—from Kansas and wanting the world to know it went overseas to study conditions among the children in the Near East, whom the people of the United States were caring for at a cost of several million dollars annually. He became so impressed with their need that as an official of the Near East Relief—the organization through which the money was being invested in child-welfare and life-saving work—he toured the country in their behalf.

The harder he worked the more impressed he became with the advisability of giving the children of America a part in the salvation of war-wrecked childhood in those far lands over the seas. The children of medieval Europe had accepted a responsibility that their elders had been unable to assume. Why not let the children of modern America take on the responsibility that, he felt, a fortunate nation like America owed to the less fortunate. Out of this thought the Second Crusade developed in the wheat fields of Kansas.

The sending out of an Army of Children would have about the same little and would have cost tremendous sums. So Mr. Bibb thought of sending someone to represent the Children of America, one of America's best known youngsters. "Jackie" Coogan's picture on a Topeka theatre billboard gave him the rest of his idea. So "Bill" rushed West. His task was to convince Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coogan, Jackie's parents.

With the plain eloquence of the middle western prairies, he persuaded them that the sight of other children, less fortunate than he, would make a profound and lasting impression on their boy—a practical lesson in the Golden Rule. So Jackie sails this summer on his mission of mercy and good-will. "They've been trying to settle things with guns and bloodshed out in the East since the world began," says Bill. "And all the settlement there has been was one war after another. Now we'll see what a little good-will and human kindness can accomplish. Near East Relief workers have been out there since the Armistice preaching this gospel and they seem to be getting somewhere. This new crusade is going to help them get further. It's going to help them keep alive an army of orphan waifs and train them to become an influence for good in a part of the world that—Heaven knows—needs lots of it."

BEST ROADS TO LEGION MEET

Highways Will Be in Good Condition, Expected

Members of the American Legion who are going to drive to the big state convention at Mandan next week and visitors to the Mandan Roundup to be held at the same time, are assured of good roads both ways in a statement issued today by W. G. Black, Chief Engineer of the Highway Commission.

Mr. Black's statement follows: "People driving to the American Legion convention and the Mandan Roundup may be assured that the roads will be in good condition. The Federal-aid trunklines in the state are under constant care and by driving to one of these well maintained and marked highways directly from their home town, motorists will find traveling much easier."

Motorists in the northeastern and southeastern parts of the state will do well to get onto either state route number 1 or route number 4 as soon as possible and follow these routes until they intersect with route number 3. From this intersection they may follow route number 3 directly to Mandan.

Visitors from the central and western parts of the state will find traveling much easier if they reach route number 3 as soon as possible and follow it into Mandan. Route number 3 can be reached from every part of these two sections by following one of the following marked routes: routes number 10, 14, 6, 25, 21 and 22, which connect with route number 3 at various points either east or west of Mandan.

Considerable work is being done on the roads at this time, the statement concludes, and all travelers are advised to watch closely for detour signs. By carefully following the detours marked, much difficulty, usually experienced when roads are under construction, will be averted.

Engineer at State Prison Has Unusual Record

Thirty-five years without missing a day's pay. This is the record of F. S. Morray, chief engineer at the state penitentiary.

Mr. Morray knows every crook and turn of the engineering business at the state prison, and while many wardens have come and gone, and many new men have been put in places by the wardens, Mr. Morray has been kept on the job continuously.

WERNER MAN BADLY HURT

Iver Swanson Receives Fractures of Nose and Upper Jaw

Iver Swanson, a farmer from southeast of Werner received fractures of the nose and upper jaw on Tuesday, which may be fatal, while he was assisting several of the neighbors of Henry Locken of Werner, in straightening Mr. Locken's barn, which had been twisted in the storm last week.

An arrangement of ropes and crowbars was being used in the work, when the ropes snapped, and Mr. Swanson was struck in such a manner as to cause the fracture. As the other men were engrossed in their own work, no one is able to say exactly how the accident happened.

Mr. Swanson was taken to Halliday, where he was taken care of by Dr. Law. Yesterday Mr. Swanson was brought to the Bismarck hospital, but until the information derived from the X-ray examination can be learned, the extent of his injuries will not be known.

MAUGHAN AND HIS "SHIP"

Here is Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan standing beside his cross-country plane. It is of the Curtiss Pursuit type.

MICHIGAN HONORS COURT POET

Sir Robert Brydges, poet laureate of England, received the degree of Doctor of Letters at this year's commencement exercises at the University of Michigan. From left to right are Sir Robert; Benjamin Han- chett, Grand Rapids, Mich., a regent of the university; Miss Bina M. West, Port Huron, Mich., founder and supreme commander of the Woman's Benefit Association of the 34th district, upon whom the honorary degree of Master of Arts was conferred; and Miss Jean Hamilton, dean of the university.

MISS NIELSEN LEADS

With only 84 precincts heard from throughout the State, of the Non-partisan contest for nomination as Superintendent of Public Instruction Miss Minnie J. Nielsen, incumbent, polled a lead over her nearest opponent, Miss Bertha Palmer, who had 2,443 votes. G. W. Conn, of Amidon, apparently ran a poor third race, only receiving 735 votes so far.

THE FIRST COUNTY TO SEND IN ITS COMPLETE REPUBLICAN GUBERNATORIAL VOTE

Trail County, which gave Governor Nestos an almost 2 to 1 majority in the 1922 election, showed a decrease for Governor Nestos in the total vote of approximately 500 votes and a decrease in the Non-partisan vote of only 90.

THE COMPLETE TRAIL COUNTY VOTE

Miss Clagett spoke at the German Baptist church last Tuesday, giving an illuminating address on Japanese Conditions. "The Japanese people are a very proud people," she said. "It shows itself in the following threefold manner, the emperor, his divinity, they are proud of that. Their navy is modern and efficient; they are proud of that. The nations of the world unload their wares from the ends of the earth in her ports; they are proud of that," she said. Miss Clagett feels that Congress has done the right thing so far in regard to the exclusion of the Japanese from the United States. She says that the Japanese own the land in their great, great grandchildren. When they buy American land, it was found, they have the same idea. Americans, she says, cannot own land in Japan, but Japanese can own land in America.

MISS CLAGETT MAKES A STRONG APPEAL FOR THE BIBLE IN MISSIONARY WORK

She believes that it will do wonders when allowed to be read and studied by the Japanese people. She gave a number of instances where the Bible has wrought deep and lasting changes in the lives of the people, not only of the poor, but among the wealthy and among the student bodies.

MISS CLAGETT WILL BE ACCOMPANIED BY THE SECRETARY OF THE NORTH DA-

From one song to another the glee club went through the Smith campaign songs and when they swung into "Hail, Hail The Gang's All Here," Senator Walsh retired temporarily from the speaker's stand to wait for a more favorable opportunity to continue his appeals for order.

A moment later the Senator returned to attack, however, pointing

Nestas Leads As Vote Piles Up From Over State In Primary

still unreported, Governor Nestas had a lead of 12,000 votes over Sorlie, in figures available just before noon.

These reports were from 528 of the state's 2,160 precincts, scattered throughout North Dakota's 53 counties, which gave Nestas 32,549, as against 20,298 for Sorlie, and 2,155 for Moe, who ran independently.

Vote From Cities.

In available reports 372 precincts were from the first district, in 12 counties, 184 precincts, from the second, in 15 counties; and 82 from the third in 16 counties.

In all three districts however, most of the vote reported was from cities and towns.

It is in the rural precincts of the second and third districts that the League has always been strongest, and supporters of Sorlie expressed confidence today that the latest reports from those precincts would rapidly reduce the ratio of Nestas' lead, and finally bring victory to Sorlie.

1st Congressional district: 272 precincts, coming from 15 counties. Give Moe 791, Nestas 15,989, Sorlie 9,776.

2nd Congressional district: 184 precincts give from 15 counties. Moe 553, Nestas 10,010, Sorlie 6,503.

3rd Congressional district: 82 precincts, coming from 16 counties. Give Moe 506, Nestas 6,500, Sorlie 4,019. The total 538 precincts, give from 43 counties. Moe 2,155, Nestas 32,549, Sorlie 20,298.

Other Early Returns.

Returns from the other State Offices were as follows at 10:30 a. m., according to unofficial tabulations:

For Republican Secy. of State, 118 precincts give Robert Byrne, Non-partisan endorse, 2,482; O. A. Hall, Fargo, Non-partisan, running without the official league endorsement, 1,742; D. E. Shipley, Dickinson, independent, 4,079.

For Republican nomination for State Auditor, 111 precincts, give: David C. Poindexter, Jamestown, Non-partisan, 3,271; John Steen, Rugby, independent, 4,994.

For Republican State Treasurer, 111 precincts give: C. A. Fisher, Valley City, Non-partisan, 3,647; John O. Lyngstad, Bismarck, independent, 4,013.

today from the second district, Thomas Hall went into the lead when 71 precincts had been counted having 3,677 to 2,083 for John Sherman, a leaguer.

Third District

In the Third District M. O. Hall of Mohall, independent, led Mr. Sinclair. Returns from 37 precincts out of the district's 825 gave the Mohall man 1,689 to Sinclair's 1,554.

Burnetts Wins

Congressman O. B. Burnett, independent, seeking the nomination for the republican ticket, appears to have won his nomination from the third district, having a lead at the outset of the voting, leading with 130 precincts out of the district's 586 by a vote of 8,556 to 4,393 for H. H. Anker, Grand Forks, Non-partisan league endorsee.

Burke in Lead

In the Supreme Court fight, for which two will be nominated John Burke, Fargo attorney, and former U. S. Treasurer, assumed a commanding lead when 45 precincts had been reported early this morning.

The poll of 579 votes by C. J. Fisk of Minot came the closest to him, and that was approximately 1,500 less with only a small portion of the returns favorable. F. O. Hellstrom of Bismarck stayed on in third place with 409 and was followed in order by G. Grimson of Langdon, who has this far recorded 372 votes.

The vote in this contest gave: Burke 2,092; Joseph Coghlan, Bismarck, 185; Charles J. Fisk 579; Steehan 138; Grimson 372; Hellstrom 409.

Returns from 118 precincts scattered principally in the eastern sections of the state, gave Walter Macdonald the lead, second place, to Frank Ployhar, independent, the vote being: Maddock 3,514; Ployhar 4,248.

Other Early Returns

Returns from the other State Offices were as follows at 10:30 a. m., according to unofficial tabulations:

PROPOSED COAL RATES SCHEDULE

Interstate Commerce Commission Makes Recommendations

A schedule of rates on lignite coal, suggested by the examiner for the interstate commerce commission, as a possible basis in establishing a new schedule, has been received in Fargo.

This new schedule was suggested by the examiner for the I. C. C. in the case in which the commission ordered the railroads to cancel the proposed increased rates announced last fall, and which were suspended by both the I. C. C. and the state railroad commission.

In this case, while the commission found that the proposed rates were too high, they also found that the present rates are too low, and suggested an entirely new schedule. This new schedule is merely a suggestion, and would boost all present rates materially. It is expected that there will be strong objections to the proposed schedule on the part of the mine operators and the consumers, but it is believed that some compromise basis may be worked out from it.

G. E. Peterson, traffic commissioner of the Fargo Commercial Club, has prepared the following table which shows in the first column the mileage from various mining towns to Fargo; in the second column the present rate; in the third column the rate proposed by the railroads; in the fourth column the new rate suggested as a compromise basis by the commission's examiner.

MANY STATES HAVE GAS TAX

35 States in Union Assess Such a Tax

According to recent figures given in a survey of the gas tax situation in the United States, North Dakota is one of 35 states having such a tax. The state is one of nine having a one cent tax on gas; thirteen states having no gas tax; seventeen having a tax of two cents; eight having a tax of three cents; and one, Arkansas, having a gas tax of four cents.

Utah has a tax of two and one-half cents subject to a referendum next November, the survey adds.

"That the 'painless gas tax' system of raising funds for highway construction is looked upon with favor by highway authorities is clearly demonstrated by the fact that 35 states have adopted that method," said W. G. Black, Chief Engineer of the State Highway Commission in commenting upon the survey today.

Of the 19 states to first adopt the tax, 13 have since increased the rate in order to secure a larger portion of the road constructing funds by that plan. Seventeen states adopted the plan last year," he continued.

Highway authorities in all of the states which do not have the gas tax method of taxing for road construction predict that their states will soon fall in line, and that those states having the greatest number of tourists will be the next to adopt the plan, according to Mr. Black.

FAMED SHEIK HAS BECOME A LEGEND

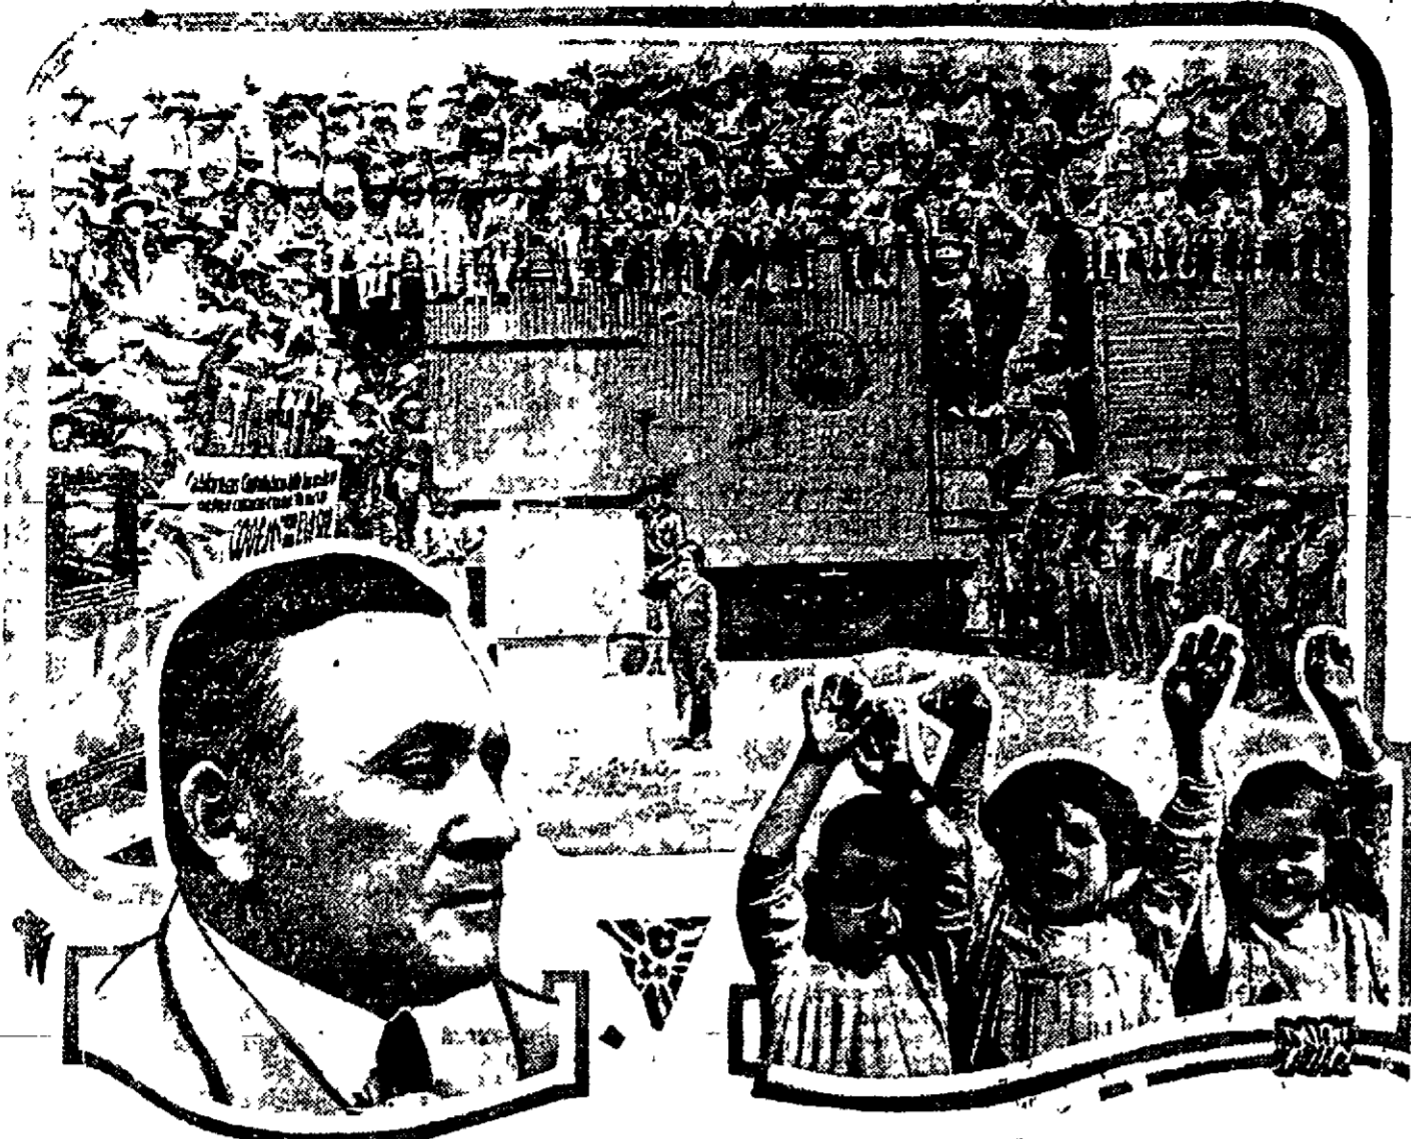

Tajer, Morocco, June 26. (A. P.)—Raisuli, the Robin Hood of Morocco, who inspired John Hay's "Pardicaris alive or Raisuli dead," which provoked wild applause in the Republican National convention at Chicago 20 years ago, has ceased to be a great international issue. He has become almost a legend.

Raisuli has quit kidnapping prominent Englishmen and Americans for ransom, and is living in retirement at Tazout, in the heart of Morocco, surrounded by faithful followers whom he supports from the proceeds of his years of brigandage and the funds Germany supplied to him for the purpose of keeping the anti-Semitic tribes in a state of ferment during the great war.

Legend has it that the Englishman who kidnapped Raisuli from his wife in Tangier and carried into the Atlas Mountains, died in the United States several years ago. Sir Harry Maclean, the English chief of the Sultan's bodyguard, when Raisuli kidnapped and held prisoners for seven months, has been forgotten by newspaper readers. But Raisuli is such a picturesque figure that even in retirement he is not forgotten.

There are frequent rumors that the former bandit may be induced to accept the British. Foreign women make pilgrimages to Tazout in the

Youngsters Mobilize to Aid "Jackie" Coogan's Mercy Mission

A FEEL a lapse of almost eight hundred years the world soon is to witness another Children's Crusade.

The first was inaugurated in the thirteenth century when armies of children began to mobilize in France and Germany. Instead of swords they carried palm scrolls and prayer beads. They planned to convert the Moslems and restore to Christianity the holy places of the Church in Palestine. The movement ended in disaster and the only members of this first crusade to reach the Holy Lands, arrived as slaves of the Saracens.

The Second Crusade has just been organized. It started in Kansas, backed west to the Pacific Coast, and soon will start from the across country to New York and then to the Levant. Its leader is a typical boy—Jackie Coogan, Jr.—the screen star of international fame. Its personnel will be limited to not more than a dozen, including Jackie's parents.

But the movement will represent many times the number actually mobilized for the first crusade. It will represent the children of America, whose envoy Jackie will be on an errand of mercy rather than one of war; one directed not against Moslems but against mightier forces—those of Hunger and Disease—which are now threatening the youngsters of the Bible Lands. More than a million children throughout the country are now assembling the ammunition for the small party that actually will embark.

Before their task is finished they will have gathered more than a million dollars worth of food. Approximately 500,000 cans of milk have been collected already. All over the country youngsters are busy piling up supplies at the railroad stations to be loaded on special trains that will carry them to the Atlantic Seaboard. Then they will be loaded on a special steamer—the gift ship of the Children of America to the orphan waifs of the Near East. Recently William A. (Bill) Bibb —from Kansas and wanting the world to know it—went overseas to study conditions among the children in the Near East, whom the people of the United States were caring for at a cost of several million dollars annually. He became so impressed with their need that, as an official of the Near East Relief—the organization through which the money was being invested in child-welfare and life-saving work—he toured the country in their behalf.

The harder he worked the more impressed he became with the advisability of giving the children of America a part in the salvation of war-wrecked childhood in those far lands over the seas. The children of medieval Europe had accepted a responsibility that their elders had been unable to assume. Why not let the children of America share some of the responsibility like America owed to the less fortunate. Out of this thought the Second Crusade developed in the wheat fields of Kansas.

The sending out of an Army of Children would have accomplished little and would have cost tremendous sums. So Mr. Bibb thought of sending someone to represent the Children of America, one of America's best known youngsters. "Jackie" Coogan's picture on a Topeka theatre billboard gave him the rest of his idea. So "Bill" rushed west. His task was to convince Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coogan, Jackie's parents.

With the plain eloquence of the middle western prairies, he persuaded them that the sight of other children, less fortunate than he, would make a profound and lasting impression on their boy—a practical lesson in the Golden Rule. So Jackie sails this summer on his mission of mercy and good-will.

"They've been trying to settle things with guns and bloodshed out in the East since the world began," says Bill. "And all the settlement there has been was one war after another. Now we'll see what a little good-will and human kindness can accomplish. Near East Relief workers have been out there since the Armistice preaching this gospel and they seem to be getting somewhere. This new crusade is going to help them keep alive an army of orphan waifs and try them to become an influence for good in a part of the world that Heaven knows—needs lots of it."

hope of seeing a sheik in real life.

Political differences between Spain, France, England and Germany as to which should have the whip hand in directing Moroccan affairs played into Raisuli's hands. He was clever enough to capitalize the international row and because of his great influence with the mountain tribes has managed to escape death.

WERNER MAN BADLY HURT

Iver Swanson Receives Fractures of Nose and Upper Jaw

Iver Swanson, a farmer from southeast of Werner received fractures of the nose and upper jaw Tuesday, which may be fatal, while he was assisting several of the neighbors of Henry Locken of Werner, in straightening Mr. Locken's barn, which had been twisted in the storm last week.

An arrangement of ropes and crowbars was being used in the work when the ropes snapped, and Mr. Swanson was struck in such a manner as to cause the fractures. As the other men were engrossed in their own work, no one is able to say exactly how the accident happened.

Mr. Swanson was taken to Halliday, where he was taken care of by Dr. Law. Yesterday Mr. Swanson was brought to the Bismarck hospital, but until the information derived from the X-ray examination can be learned, the extent of his injuries will not be known.

BEST ROADS TO LEGION MEET

Highways Will Be in Good Condition, Expected

Members of the American Legion who are going to drive to the big state convention at Mandan next week and visitors to the Mandan Roundup to be held at the same time, are assured of good roads both ways in a statement issued today by W. G. Black, Chief Engineer of the Highway Commission.

Mr. Black's statement follows: "People driving to the American Legion convention and the Mandan Roundup may be assured that the roads will be in good condition. The Federal-aid trunklines in the state are under constant care and by driving to one of these well maintained and marked highways directly from their home town, motorists will find traveling much easier.

Motorists in the northeastern and southeastern parts of the state will do well to get onto either state route number 1 or route number 4 as soon as possible and follow these routes until they intersect with route number 3. From this intersection they may follow route number 3 directly to Mandan.

Visitors from the central and western parts of the state will find traveling much easier if they reach route number 3 as soon as possible and follow it into Mandan. Route number 3 can be reached from every part of these two sections by following one of the following numbered routes: routes number 10, 14, 6, 25, 21 and 22, which connect with route number 3 at various points either east or west of Mandan."

Considerable work is being done on the roads at this time, the state engineer concludes, and all travelers are advised to watch closely for detour signs. By carefully following the detours marked, much difficulty, usually experienced when roads are under construction, will be averted.

TURN OUT YOUR OWN DRESS IN AN HOUR

"I Have Nothing to Wear" Won't Do As An Excuse With This Invention

SOME OF THE "ONE-HOUR" DRESSES CREATED BY MISS GERTRUDE BARNETT OF SAN FRANCISCO

By NEA Service
San Francisco, June 26—Woman's immortal excuse of "but I have nothing to wear" is out of date with the advent of one-hour dresses. They are the handwork of Miss Gertrude Barnett of this city and can be created in one hour from yard cloth, including measurements and fittings in that time. Miss Lena Tognoli, at the left of the picture, wears an evening dress of satin trimmed with ostrich feathers. Miss Mildred Mooney, center, wears a street dress made from three yards of Scotch silk and three yards of two-tone ribbon. The other gown, worn by Miss Lucy Varney, is an afternoon dress, all over silk with a frill of organza down the front.

OSTRICH FEATHERS

Uncurled ostrich feathers are used to band the new hats that turn up on one side and down on the other.

BLAZER STRIPES

Blazer striped flannel makes very stunning long coats for sport wear, and may be lined or unlined, according to the wearer's mood.

RUFFLES

Circular ruffles that give a flowing, graceful line without any gathers or apparent fullness are the ideal trimming for the printed chiffon gown.

GRAY CREPE

Beige gray crepe makes the most delightfully feminine gowns that some women find more flattering for general wear than black.

SATIN SLIPPERS

White satin slippers to be worn with the wedding gown have rhinestone buckles outlined with a rosette of real lace.

MONKEY FUR

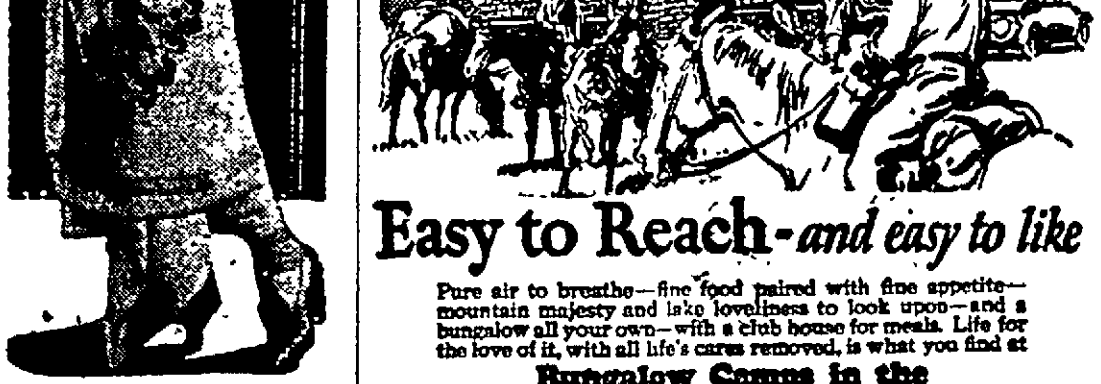

The popularity of fringe has brought back monkey fur as an edge for sleeves, hems and tunics.

GOOD FOR WEAK EYES

Cook by Electricity. It is Clean.

Three-Piece Costume

Here is a three-piece costume that departs from studied simplicity and becomes richly decorative. White silk crepe, printed in gorgeous floral patterns is the material used for both the dress and the cape. A band of white fur bands the cape and forms the collar. Each part of the costume forms a complete unit alone, the dress being very interesting without the cape, and the cape being equally attractive over other summer gowns. Printed materials are very fashionable now, and the gayer the colors and the more striking the pattern, the more desirable they are.

TURN OUT YOUR OWN DRESS IN AN HOUR

"I Have Nothing to Wear" Won't Do As An Excuse With This Invention

SOME OF THE "ONE-HOUR" DRESSES CREATED BY MISS GERTRUDE BARNETT OF SAN FRANCISCO

By NEA Service

San Francisco, June 26—Woman's immortal excuse of "but I have nothing to wear" is out of date with the advent of one-hour dresses. They are the handiwork of Miss Gertrude Barnett of this city and can be created in one hour from yard cloth, including measurements and fittings in that time. Miss Lena Tognoli, at the left of the picture, wears an evening dress of satin trimmed with ostrich feathers.

Each of the creations was completed by Miss Barnett in an hour, and are so simple, according to their inventor, that any woman, at all handy with a needle, can finish them in as short a time. A popular feminine alibi is blasted with this new feat of dressmaking speed. "I have nothing to wear" won't do. The rejoinder will be, "but you can make something in an hour."

Three-Piece Costume

Here is a three-piece costume that departs from studied simplicity and becomes richly decorative. White silk crepe, printed in gorgeous floral patterns is the material used for both the dress and the cape. A band of white fur bands the cape and forms the collar. Each part of the costume forms a complete unit alone, the dress being very interesting without the cape, and the cape being equally attractive over other summer gowns. Printed materials are very fashionable now, and the gayer the colors and the more striking the pattern, the more desirable they are.

SONNET

A good that never satisfies the mind,
A beauty fading like the April showers,
A sweet with floods of gall that runs combined,
A pleasure passing ere in thought made ours,
A honor that more fickle is than wind,
A glory at opinion's frown that lowers,
A treasury which bankrupt time devours,
A knowledge than grave ignorance more blind,
A vain delight our equals to command,
A style of greatness in effect a dream,
A swelling thought of holding sea and land,
A servile lot deck'd with a pompous name,
Are the strange ends we toil for here below.
Till wisest death makes us our errors know.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

TAXES
Check-up shows that national, state and local taxes in 1922 cost the American people over 7750 million dollars.
That's over $70 a year for every man, woman and child—$350 for a man and wife and three children.
Uncle Sam gets most of the blame, though the war and its debt is his alibi. A far greater menace is reckless spending by states, counties and cities. The public thinks it needs more public improvements than it can afford. Mortgaging the future by bonds, to dodge immediate taxes, is just putting off the fearful day of reckoning.

FORD
Henry Ford sails serenely even during a business slump. In May, when the steel industry was sagging to 50 per cent capacity and the auto industry in general was inspecting its life preservers, Ford sold 209,601 passenger cars and trucks. That's about two and a half million a year.

Many wonder at Ford's success. And yet it's all based on a very simple principle—selecting a useful device that everybody needs and wants, and then manufacturing it at a popular price. Ford isn't the only one who has cleaned up millions this way.

FORGERS
Forgers cause the nation a yearly loss of at least 50 million dollars, claims a bonding company. It's an old story. You read it year after year.

Meantime, the nation spends several times 50 million dollars to protect itself against forgery. Is the game worth the candle? It certainly is. Without this expensive vigilance, forgery losses would be many times as big as now. Protection always is expensive, and nearly always it is worth the cost, times over.

CONSOLATION
Each week the railroads are moving more and more freight. This means that times are going to get better. When freight movement is big, business men are betting on good business ahead and are getting goods ready for expected customers.

Latest reports show the railroads moving 91 cars of freight for every 77 cars in the corresponding week of 1921 and 1922. Throw away the blue spectacles.

SAVAGE
"Dress up a savage in pants and start him chasing the dollar, and you have civilization," says Henry Ford.
It's a clever remark, but it's not true.
The most highly developed individual, the people who make civilization, are not much interested in fashions, nor do they chase dollars except to make a living and safeguard themselves for the future. The trouble is that not more than one person in 15 is really civilized.

CIGARS AND PRICES
Cigars—seven billion of them a year—are made in America. An enormous figure, but cigar production has been steadily declining since the war made the cigaret "respectable."

A widespread return of nickel cigars might reverse the tide. Cigar business is the victim of high prices and the fact that smokers now are more nervous and want to inhale. To inhale a cigar requires leather lungs.

ARRESTED
A Chicago woman, 50 years old, notorious pickpocket, arrested for the 232d time. She had been in 12 penitentiaries and 62 jails, and has paid fines totaling more than $25,000 police say.

There was a time when she was an innocent little girl with no thought of breaking the law.
Crime is 90 per cent environment and association, not more than 10 per cent natural inclination.

Prof. Fisher says the buying power of the dollar is somewhere around 69 cents, compared with its pre-war purchasing power. That's true.

And yet an American silver dollar worth $12,000 was found recently in Lancaster, O. It was one of the famous issue of the year 1804. Only seven others are known to be in existence. Its value is in its scarcity. That's about all there is to any value.

COTTON
World leadership in cotton is slipping away from our country. The boll weevil's chiefly to blame.
This year Americans will grow 38,500,000 acres of cotton. Foreign countries have about 28,000,000 acres planted to cotton, an increase of 2,000,000 acres in one year. It is the most important economic shifting now taking place in the world.

TIME
The world's first clock was in the tower of San Eustorgio in Milan, Italy. It was placed there in the year 1309. That's a long time to us who live only a few years, but a short time in the long history of humanity.
The invention of the clock was the birth of industrial slavery.

"I am through with men," says a Kansas City woman as she gets a divorce. It sounds like 16, but she is 56.

The well informed girl doesn't catch a husband as quickly as the well formed girl.

A slight earthquake felt in Alaska was probably caused by some seal hunter's lies.

DAWES AS THE FARMER CANDIDATE

Nothing could be more significant of the nature of the coming campaign than the announcement that General Dawes will open his speaking tour with an address at Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln is the capital of Nebraska, and Nebraska is in the very heart of the great northwestern farming territory. The state is represented in the upper house by Senators Norris and Howell—radicals both.

As matters stand, then, Nebraska may well be called a radical state. Yet it is Nebraska which General Dawes has chosen as the scene of the opening of his campaign. He is marching into the enemy's territory. He is challenging LaFollette and LaFolletteism. And he will be challenging it in a place where he once lived, and among a people whom he has long known.

For in 1887 Charles G. Dawes, at the age of 22, moved from his Ohio home and began practicing law in Lincoln, Neb. He practised there for seven years, before business interests drew him to Evanston, where he has since lived. In that period, from 1887 to 1894, he formed a host of acquaintances who to this day retain a fresh memory of the vigor-keenness of his intellect, the force of his spirit, and the warmth of his humanity.

And in that period young Dawes, among those pioneer farmers, came to know the needs, the desires and the hardships of agriculture in the northwest. He lived in Nebraska in the terrible time of the nineties, when the farmer was certainly as distressed as now, and when the cry of "free coinage of silver" at a ratio of 16 to 1 filled the air; but despite the economic heresy all around him, the young lawyer stood fast, knowing well that 16 to 1 was not the party which would lead the farmer out of the wilderness.

The sophistries of the day found an eloquent prophet in young Dawes, fellow townsman, William Jennings Bryan. In 1896, when Bryan was nominated on a 16 to 1 platform, Dawes had been two years an Illinoisan. Early in that year he volunteered in the fight to nominate McKinley.

Young Dawes was a new and effective force in Illinois politics. Largely as a result of his tireless efforts, McKinley was nominated. During the ensuing campaign the 21-year-old Evanstonian was a member of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee. That campaign was a clean-cut fight between the forces of sanity and the forces of hysterical radicalism; and by tremendous efforts the forces of sanity won.

Nineteen years later is another such year. Time has mellowed Bryan. It has soured LaFollette. He is the Bryan of 1924. The agricultural distress of today parallels that of the nineties. And again on the side of sanity, fighting for the real advantage of the farmer and against the hysteria of the moment, is Charles G. Dawes, delegates from the farming states recognized that at the national convention. Despite the desires of the radical senators, Norris and Howell, Nebraska nominated Dawes and gave him her full 19 votes on each of the three ballots. Never once did Dawes' old state waver. On the final ballot, he got the votes of nearly all the western farming states except those which voted for favorite sons. He was supported by Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Nebraska, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada and Wyoming.

It was the strength of the agricultural states which gave him his victory. These states were for Dawes because they believed in his sincere sincerity, in his courage to state his beliefs to the farmer and to anyone else, in his fundamental knowledge of business and his detailed knowledge of farming problems, and in the tremendous value of the Dawes reparation report to American farmers, who need export markets.

These farming states favored Dawes as the farmer's candidate. While official duties keep President Coolidge in Washington, General Dawes will be making a whirlwind campaign against the economic heresies of LaFollette, as fallacious and as dangerous as the 16 to 1 doctrine in 1896—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

FABLES ON HEALTH MORNING EXERCISES

After Mr. Jones of Anytown had been doing his morning doses for a few weeks he did them with one eye on the clock and his mind fixed on whether or not he had time to finish them.

Then he began to skip them, or be lethargic.

This is not uncommon with persons who take up exercises. But the off-and-on habit will never keep you fit.

Enthusiasm in exercise is as important as the exercise itself.

You should want to do them; like to do them—dislike other thoughts from the mind and have a good time. If the exercises interfere with catching the train or car—GET UP EARLIER. The results gained from the exercises will be better than the extra few minutes sleep.

Of course, it is not entirely correct that one absolutely has to be emotionally interested. But it is far better that the exercises please than bore the person involved.

Boredom in the exercises is not, however, fatal. It is more inclined to cause the person to quit.

But bored or pleased, find some means for physical recreation every day.

WHAT YOU NEVER CAN KNOW

By Albert Apple

It's amazing, the vast number of things that have been learned by the world's people through the centuries. The sum total of human knowledge is so gigantic that the brightest brains would have to live thousands upon thousands of years to master it all.

For instance, the carpenter has knowledge that is entirely unknown to the chemist. Every different line of work requires a great amount of knowledge that is unknown to outsiders.

It takes a man an entire lifetime to begin to learn about farming, chemistry, medicine, salesmanship or any of the other long line of human activities.

We have barely scratched the surface of knowledge. And yet a man could live thousands of lifetimes, in each one following a different line of work, and at the end he'd only have required a fraction of the knowledge that has been found out by the human race at large.

Addressing companies sell mailing lists covering over 5000 different forms of business activity.

You know what is meant by "the lost art." Much knowledge perishes as oncoming generations turn their attention to different pursuits.

It's like the practice of medicine. When a certain physician dies, a large part of what he has learned by experience dies with him. He hasn't time to make a complete record.

The old idea of education was to pour facts into the brain, the same as filling a jug with a funnel. But we have progressed and specialized so much that education is, by compulsion, being put on a different basis.

To succeed, a man must specialize on some one thing. In that field he needs all the facts he can soak up.

But when it comes to general knowledge, it is futile to attempt to learn everything. It simply cannot be done. The important thing is to be taught how to find knowledge when occasion arises for using it. A dictionary is just as useful to the average person as several years' study of foreign languages—unless the languages will be used in his life's work.

Some studies are primarily to train the thinking processes of the brain, rather than the actual knowledge acquired. Mathematics especially.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO PAULA PERIER, CONTINUED

Right here I'm going to betray Jack a little and tell you that he sent that beautiful letter of yours to me, to me. My dear girl, I knew that generosity of mind and soul was always a part of you.

Why the truth when you say that Leslie is the loveliest woman either you or Jack have ever known. She is the loveliest woman I have ever known, and I am very glad you wrote that sentence to him which called attention to the fact that he probably thought he could not make her happy because he was fonder of her than of any woman in the world.

I've often wondered, Paula, just why the state of a man's feelings, if he conceals that state, should be supposed to make a woman happy. Somewhere some woman novelist has said: "A man can love a woman to distraction and be untrue to her every week." Some way I don't think that the loved woman could be happy if she lived with a man of this kind, do you?

Paula, dear, I'm very glad to have known both you and Leslie—women capable of the great giving, the great sacrifice—for there are those who give when it is no sacrifice to them, you know.

After I read that letter of yours to Jack, I had a greater reverence, respect and regard for women than I have ever had before. The very reticence and reserve with which you two women professed to each other friendship is beautiful beyond words. It is only big women who have done that which either of you women did. John Alden Prescott is blessed far beyond his deserts.

I'm still rather bungled up from that automobile smash-up, and as I have never made the Prescotts a visit since their marriage, I'm going to stay at the club for a couple of weeks over their third anniversary.

By the way, do you remember those little coral gods that we bought of that funny old Chinaman one day last summer, and the fascinating legend he told us? I wish you would look around and see if you could find another pair. Don't make a particular hunt for them, but if you come across a pair I would like them very much. When I come out there I shall try a still hunt for another pair myself.

Of course, I don't believe the word of the legend, and I may as well tell you that I have separated the gods. Up to date, I neither do I think the person to whom I sent the other has been unhappy. It's rather a ridiculous idea, isn't it, to try the experiment of seeing if there is anything in the old legend, on one of your friends?

EHMKE MEETS KID JACKSON

Middleweight on Program for Boxing Show

Billy Ehmke of Fargo, one of the best in his class in the Northwest, will meet Kid Jackson of Minneapolis, at 165 pounds at the Legion boxing card to be staged in the Mandan fairgrounds arena on Tuesday, July 1. It was announced today by Jack Hurley, promoter. Ehmke is known as a tough fighter and Jackson is said also to be a mixer. The headline event will be a 10-round bout between Ehmke of Fargo and Johnny Tiltman of Minneapolis. Leroy will run up against one of the toughest propositions he has faced, for Tiltman this week bested Jack Joseph, one of the best of the Northwest welterweights. Tiltman has fought the best in his class.

There will be 36 rounds of boxing in all, four preliminaries being scheduled. The arena will seat 900 people, it being the livestock pavilion, arranged with the ring in the center. Tickets are obtainable at the G. P. pool hall, Bismarck, and the Lewis and Clark stand and Regan pool hall in Mandan. The show is staged especially for the benefit of the Legionnaires who will be visiting Mandan for the state convention.

STRIBLING IS TOUGH BOY

Billy Conley, North Dakota Boxer, Tells of Fight With Him

Young Stribling, the Georgia school boy boxer who has made a rapid climb to pugilistic fame, is not over-rated, according to Billy Conley (Fred Barth), North Dakota middleweight, who recently fought Stribling in Ohio. Conley stopped here to visit his brother, Jacob Barth and sister, Mrs. H. Dralle, on his way to Wallace, Idaho, where he fights Bob Sage of Detroit in a 20-round battle on July 4.

"Stribling is a good in-fighter," said Conley, "but I think Harry Greb will beat him on July 4. I believe Stribling could knock out Georges Carpentier—I could knock out Harry Greb. Carpentier is a one-hand fighter, and that's all."

Conley was forced to quit his bout with Stribling, but he knocked the Georgia flash down early in their fight.

"After I knocked Stribling down, he put his right hand up to his jaw and kept it there; then he bowed in and hugged me close," said Conley. "He is a purely an in-fighter and a good one. I think he fouled me 20 times but the referee didn't call them. Stribling is a cautious boxer, too."

Conley wants to meet Stribling again and he hopes to fight Harry Greb. Conley, who weighs 160 pounds, left Mott, North Dakota, seven years ago and has been fighting on the west coast until recently, when he has been in Ohio. He is willing to box in North Dakota on his return from Idaho providing he can get a good match. He expects to fight Jeff Smith in Indianapolis July 25, he said.

Waits 52 Years For Varsity Letter He Won At Amherst

By NEA Service

Tucson, Ariz., June 26.—Fifty-two years in getting a varsity letter, which he won by being a member of a college crew in 1872, is the record of Rev. Arthur Jared Benedict of Cochise Stronghold, Ariz.

He rowed No. 2 on the Amherst crew which made a record of 16 minutes 32.4 seconds for three miles at Springfield, Mass., that still stands as a world's record for six-oared boats.

The crews which trailed Amherst that year were Harvard, Massachusetts Aggies, Yale, Bowdoin and Williams.

Life picked the Reverend Benedict by the name of the neck 25 years ago and removed him from his staid New England parish at Housatonic, Mass., to Tombstone, Ariz. He came for his wife's health at a time when two-guon toters made life in-ordinately precarious for a tenderfoot.

But he had been born in the same town as P. T. Barnum, and so, as he says, had been kidded by experts.

When he rowed in the Amherst crew he was 23 years old, 5 feet 8.3 inches tall and weighed 145 pounds. Today, he is 75 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds.

In the great Springfield race, which his crew won, Bob Cook, who has been famous for a generation as a captain and amateur coach of Yale, rowed bow in the Eli shell. Yale finished two minutes behind the Amherst crew.

Also in that race were Richard H. Dana, son of the author of "Two Years Before the Mast," who rowed bow in the Harvard boat, and Dr. S. A. Sargent, later famous as physical director of Harvard, who sat in a Bowdoin shell.

The Reverend Benedict's brother John, was No. 1 in the Massachusetts Aggie crew that year and had also rowed in the Aggie crew which had won the Springfield regatta the year before.

Benedict is the sole surviving member of that Amherst crew, but from the appearance of him he is still an excellent insurance risk, even if he did have a stroke of paralysis two years ago that floored him for a while.

In these days when young theists get varsity letters almost for playing tiddly-winks, a letter may not mean very much, but to Benedict, who got his "A" after 52 years, it represents a price that cannot be measured in terms of money.

Benedict rises to ask those who would make little of Amherst's feat, how many athletic records have stood for 50 years.

To gild the lily one might go a little further and ask how many athletes who made records 50 years ago are still alive to ask such a question?

MARATHON KING BOWLS 50 MATCHES IN SEVEN HOURS

HANS NELSON

By NEA Service

Kenosha, Wis., June 26.—Kenosha, the home of Dr. C. C. Ryan, American Bowling Congress president, is now laying claim to the distinction of having the champion marathon bowler of the country. The star is Hans Nelson, who rolled fifty games in succession against a squad of five veterans. He beat every opponent and in the fifty games Nelson compiled a total of 10,098, an average of 201.96 for each game. His high game was 266. It took him just seven hours to successfully triumph over his competitors.

This is the first time that a bowler has endured 50 games of bowling and winning all matches. Nelson, who would be the logical kegel for Kenosha to send to any national or international endurance championship meet.

The scores were as follows:

sist they are doctoring the ball, resorting to trick stuff.

The reputation gained for trickery when that style of pitching was much used, still clings to these certain pitchers. Opposing clubs always have an alibi on that score when they fail to hit. Players have the best of memories.

The custom of "dusting off a batter," throwing the ball close to his head in an effort to intimidate him, is also another unsportsmanlike act that makes for much trouble.

In baseball certain pitchers early in their career get a reputation for using the "bean ball" in an effort to increase their effectiveness through intimidation.

While there really is never a desire on the part of the pitcher to actually hit the batsman, his intent is to come as close as possible. It is a dangerous and unsportsmanlike act that has no place in the game but has always existed.

Here again a bad reputation works for evil.

If a pitcher, who has a habit of "dusting off the batter," accidentally hits a player with a pitched ball, it is never so considered. His bad reputation makes the players feel that the act was premeditated.

It is to be regretted there is no way to actually determine just how far the pitcher is going in this dangerous practice.

Years ago some one suggested to Walter Johnson, veteran star pitcher of Washington, that he would be far more effective if at times he purposely became wild, to which he replied:

"When I have to do that to win ball games, I am going to quit!" Would there were more Walter Johnsons. Baseball would be a better game.

The Nut Cracker

By Joe Williams
Harry Greb knocked out Mr. Moody of Wales and now we suppose the gentleman is more moody than ever.

The Red Sox are dropping back. We knew that would happen as soon as the experts began picking 'em to win the pennant.

One Punch O'Goofy resents the charge that he was ever a ham and egg fighter. "I've been a vegetarian all my life," he protests.

General Dawes has had the vice presidency thing shoved off on him. This should be a lesson to young boys who think cussing is smart.

The romance of Gene Sarazen began on a golf course, differing there in from most romances which end there.

In Detroit these days when base ball reporters write "he swings at the third one," it may merely mean that a visiting player is building up a knockout record.

The champion running horse of France is to be shipped to America, and a match race with Carpentier seems altogether probable.

For the time being Jack Dempsey seems content to confine his smug to the highly rouged lips of movie heroines.

The nation would probably take more interest in the presidential situation if it knew exactly what Senator Fipps intends to do about Tex Rickard's $250,000 offer.

It is to be hoped that the culprit who stole Benny Leonard's belt will return it immediately. Mr. Leonard is a modern and does not wear suspenders.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

When Johnny Jump Up and the Twins scrambled down the rose vine into the magic garden, the next night a new flower had grown there. It looked like a water lily, and grew like a water lily—in the gold fish pool.

"It's a lotus flower," whispered Johnny Jump Up, "and the fairy who lives in it is an Egyptian fairy."

"Good evening," said the little fairy in the lotus flower. "I've been waiting for you. You are to go to Egypt tonight and as it is a long distance away and there is so much to see, you had better be starting at once."

She handed three tickets to Johnny Jump Up, who thanked her very kindly.

Tommy Titmouse hopped up and punched the tickets with his bill. Nancy and Nick and Johnny Jump Up got on and away they flew.

They crossed the ocean and a desert as big as an ocean only with sand instead of water, and soon they came to Egypt.

The pledge of the printed word

Friendships in ancient days were formed by pledges of blood. Medieval knights won mutual aid by pledges of the sword. But modern business forms friends in every corner of the world through the pledge of the printed word.

Advertisements are pledges made especially for you . . . pledges that advertised goods you buy are exactly as claimed.

When you buy an advertised phonograph, you buy one of established workmanship and tone. It has been tested by thousands before you. Its dealers, sure of its worth, invite the testing of millions more.

What is not advertised may be worth buying. What is, must be!

Read the advertisements to know which goods are advertised.

AN ADVERTISER'S PLEDGE CAN BE REDEEMED ONLY BY YOUR ENTIRE SATISFACTION

Where shall we go this evening?

Frequently you decide to spend the evening in town with some friend. The first part is easy. Dinner at a pleasant restaurant. But afterwards . . . What will you do to carry on this business of having a good time?

Easy! Two cents. An evening paper. A glance at the advertisements. Suggestion—agreement, and you're off!

You didn't go around to the different theatres, to be driven to an unsatisfactory choice by fatigue and time. If it's worth while to consult the advertisements about amusements, how much more worth while must it be when it comes to the spending of the household money.

Read the advertisements. They place before you the full choice of the trustworthy goods in the market. They describe advantages, and give you full information before you have to stir out of your chair. Pursue for every article you buy the method you use when it comes to amusements.

The way to be sure of what you buy is to buy advertised goods.

OH WELL! WE GUESS YOU'D TURN UP YOUR NOSE, TOO

We don't know where Sally Trad- dies got her glasses, but she came by her rousseau nose—which is Scandinavian for turned up, as you know—honestly.

Sally came into this world with a turned-up nose and because it turns up so exquisitely and com- forms to all the approved specifi-tional tags and duplicates as may be needed during the year 1925, will be received at the office of the State Highway Commission at the Capitol in the City of Bismarck, North Dakota, until 2 o'clock p. m. on the first day of July, 1924. Specfications concerning the tags and contract may be had by applying to the State Highway Commission, Bismarck, N. D.

MOVIES HELP SCULPTOR

A young American sculptor in Paris, George Fite Waters, is achieving phenomenal success in catching the characteristic expressions of his models. Only when the work is well advanced is there a sitting. Here he is at work on a bronze of Vladimir Rosing, one of Europe's youngest and most promising musicians.

MRS. BUFFALO AND HER BABY

Old Mr. Stork made a slight pilgrimage the other day from his pond in Liberty Park, Salt Lake City, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buffalo. And he took with him a husky 75-pound youngster. Right now, the young fellow, shown here with his mother, is causing his parents no end of worry.

GREATEST DOPE CACHE IN HISTORY

Hidden carefully beneath a shipment of brushes $1,500,000 in morphine, opium, heroin and other drugs were found hidden by customs officers at New York. This greatest dope seizure in the history of narcotic smuggling has resulted in the disclosure of an international ring with headquarters at Bremen, Germany. Two men are under arrest as American agents of the ring.

EHMKE MEETS KID JACKSON

Middleweight on Program for Boxing Show

Billy Ehmke of Fargo, one of the best in his class in the Northwest, will meet Kid Jackson of Minneapolis, at 165 pounds at the Legion boxing card to be staged in the Mandan Fairgrounds arena on Tuesday, July 1. It was announced today by Jack Hurler, promoter of Ehmke, that the fight will be a tough one and known as a tough fighter and a tough promoter.

The boxing event will be a 10-round bout between Ehmke and Kid Jackson. Ehmke will run up against one of the toughest propositions he has faced, for Tillman this week tested Jack Joseph, one of the best of the Northwest welterweights. Tillman has fought the best in his class.

There will be 36 rounds of boxing in all, four preliminaries being scheduled. The arena will seat 900 people, it being the livestock pavilion, arranged with the ring in the center. Tickets are obtainable at the G. P. pool hall, Bismarck, and the Lewis and Clark newstand and Regan pool hall in Mandan. The show is staged especially for the benefit of the Legionnaires, who will be visiting Mandan for the state convention.

STRIBLING IS TOUGH BOY

Billy Conley, North Dakota Boxer, Tells of Fight With Him

Young Stribling, the Georgia school boy boxer who has made a rapid climb to pugilistic fame, is not over-rated, according to Billy Conley (Fred Barth), North Dakota middleweight, who recently fought Stribling in Ohio. Conley stopped him to visit his brother, Jacob Barth and sister, Mrs. H. Dralle, on his way to Wallace, Idaho, where he fights Bob Sage of Detroit in a 20-round battle on July 4.

"Stribling is a good in-fighter," said Conley, "but I think Harry Greb will beat him on July 1. I believe Stribling could knock out Georges Carpentier—I could knock him out, too. Carpentier is a one-hand fighter, and that's all."

Conley was forced to quit his bout with Stribling, but he knocked the Georgia flash down early in their fight.

"After I knocked Stribling down, he put his right hand up to his jaw and kept it there, then he hurred in and hugged me close," said Conley. "He is a purely an in-fighter and a good one. I think he fouled me 20 times but the referee didn't call them. Stribling is a cautious boxer, too."

Conley wants to meet Stribling again and he hopes to fight Harry Greb, who weighs 160 pounds, seven years ago and has been fighting on the west coast until recently, when he has been in Ohio. He is willing to box in North Dakota on his return from Idaho providing he can get a good match. He expects to fight Jeff Smith in Indianapolis July 25, he said.

Waits 52 Years For Varsity Letter He Won At Amherst

By NEA Service
Tucson, Ariz., June 26.—Fifty-two years in getting a varsity letter, which he won by being a member of a college crew in 1872, is the record of Rev. Arthur Jared Benedict of Tucson, Ariz.

He rowed No. 2 on the Amherst crew which made a record of 15 minutes 32 1/2 seconds for three miles at Springfield, Mass., that still stands as a world's record for six-oared boats.

The crew, which trailed Amherst that year were Harvard, Massachusetts Agassiz, Yale, Bowdoin and Williams.

Like picked the Reverend Benedict by the name of the row 25 years ago and removed him from his post in New England parish at Housatonic, Mass., to Tucson, Ariz. He came for his wife's health at a time when two gun toters made life extremely precarious for a tenderfoot.

But he had been born in the same town as P. T. Barnum, and so, as he says, had been kidded by experts.

When he rowed in the Amherst crew he was 21 years old, 5 feet 3 1/2 inches tall and weighed 115 pounds. Today, he is 75 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds.

In the great Springfield race, which his crew won, Bob Cook, who has been famous for a generation as a captain and amateur coach of Yale rowed how in the Eli shell. Yale finished two minutes behind the Amherst crew.

Also in that race were Richard H. Dana, son of the author of "Two Years Before the Mast," who rowed how in the Harvard boat, and Dr. S. A. Sargent, later famous as physical director of Harvard, who sat in a Bowdoin shell.

The Reverend Benedict's brother, John, was No. 1 in the Massachusetts Agassiz crew that year and had also rowed in the Agassiz crew which had won the Springfield regatta the year before.

Benedict is the sole surviving member of that Amherst crew, but from the appearance of him he is still an excellent insurance risk, even if he did have a stroke of paralysis two years ago that floored him for a while.

In these days when young shells get varsity letters almost for playing tiddly-winks, a letter may not mean very much, but to Benedict, who got his "A" after 52 years, it represents a price that cannot be measured in terms of money.

Benedict rises to ask those who would make little of Amherst's feat, how many athletic records have stood for 50 years.

To give the boy one might go a little further and ask how many athletes who made records 50 years ago are still alive to ask such a question?

Yet, it is a most difficult matter to make opposing teams believe that these same twirlers are not cheating. Any time they pitch and show unusual effectiveness, the opposition is always challenging the methods used. Rival players constantly in-

RUTH MAKES HIS 18th HOMER

New York, June 26.—Washington returned first place in the American League and made a clean sweep of its four game series with the world's champions by winning yesterday, 3 to 2. Ruth stopped the game at the end of the seventh inning. Ruth hit his 18th home run.

sist they are doctoring the ball, resorting to trick stuff.

The reputation gained for trickery when that style of pitching was much used, still clings to these certain pitchers. Opposing clubs always have an alibi on that score when they fail to hit. Players have the best of memories.

The custom of "dusting off a batter," throwing the ball close to his head in an effort to intimidate him is also another unsportsmanlike act that makes for much trouble.

In baseball certain pitchers early in their career get a reputation for using the "bean ball" in an effort to increase their effectiveness through intimidation.

While there really is never a desire on the part of the pitcher to actually hit the batsman, his intent is to come as close as possible.

It is a dangerous and unsportsmanlike act that has no place in the game but has always existed.

Here again a bad reputation works for evil.

If a pitcher, who has a habit of "dusting off the batter," accidentally hits a player with a pitched ball, it is never so considered. His bad reputation makes the players feel that the act was premeditated.

It is to be regretted there is no way to actually determine just how far the pitcher is going in this dangerous practice.

Years ago some one suggested to Walter Johnson, veteran star pitcher of Washington, that he would be far more effective if, at times he just, peevishly became wild, to which he replied:

"When I have to do that to win ball games, I am going to quit!"

Would there were more Walter Johnsons. Baseball would be a better game.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

When Johnny Jump Up and the Twins scrambled down the rose vine into the magic garden, the next night a new flower had grown there.

It looked like a water lily, and grew like a water lily—in the gold fish pool.

"It's a lotus flower," whispered Johnny Jump Up, "and the fairy who lives in it is an Egyptian fairy."

Tommy Titmouse settled down on a palm tree to rest.
"My, it's hot!" said Nancy.
"Yes, Egypt is a warm country," said Johnny Jump Up. "While we are resting, I'll tell you a little about it. Soon we will come to a river. It is called the Nile and it is the longest river in the world. There is no water in Egypt except along the Nile River, so all the people live there. Egypt is thousands of miles long, but only a few miles wide. It is like a long ribbon."
"Come on, I'm rested now," said Tommy Titmouse. "I wonder if we will see our friend, the stork, whom we met in Holland. He said he lived in Egypt sometimes."
"No, because it is still spring in Holland," said Johnny Jump Up. "He won't come back to Egypt until it gets cold in Holland."
"Why, there is the Nile River now," said Tommy as he flew along. "Do look at those queer pink birds with the long necks wading in the water."
"Those are flamingoes," said Johnny Jump Up.
"Oh, and there are some men riding on camels," cried Nick. "They look like a circus."
"People in Egypt use camels instead of horses," explained Johnny Jump Up, "because they can stand heat better and don't sink into the sand."
"Here are the pyramids," said Johnny Jump Up. "They were built by the kings of Egypt thousands of years ago. There are no doors or windows or any way to get in or out."
"Where is King Tut's tomb?" asked Nancy.
"Over there," said Johnny. "But there is nothing much to see but a hole in the ground. The sand has blown over it and covered it all up in three thousand years."
"Oh, look!" shivered Tommy Titmouse as he flew along the river bank. "What are those creatures lying there in the water? They've got eyes like toucans."
"They are crocodiles," said Johnny Jump Up.
"Well, I've seen enough of Egypt," said Tommy. "Let's go home."

Where shall we go this evening?

Frequently you decide to spend the evening in town with some friend. The first part is easy. Dinner at a pleasant restaurant. But afterwards . . . What will you do to carry on this business of having a good time?

Easy! Two cents. An evening paper. A glance at the advertisements. Suggestion—agreement, and you're off!

You didn't go around to the different theatres, to be driven to an unsatisfactory choice by fatigue and time. If it's worth while to consult the advertisements about amusements, how much more worth while must it be when it comes to the spending of the household money.

Read the advertisements. They place before you the full choice of the trustworthy goods in the market. They describe advantages, and give you full information before you have to stir out of your chair. Pursue for every article you buy the method you use when it comes to amusements.

The way to be sure of what you buy is to buy advertised goods.

INTENSIVE FARMING IN ARGENTINA

Buenos Aires, June 26.—Argentina is a land where fortunes are to be made in the intensive type of farming, in the judgment of Leon M. Estabrook, an American agricultural expert who has been reorganizing the statistical and crop reporting department of the Argentine ministry of agriculture.

Referring to the marvelous agricultural development in his own country in the past 25 years, Mr. Estabrook said he felt confident that similar changes would be witnessed in Argentina within the next 10 or 20 years. "The tide of immigration already has begun to flow in the direction of Argentina," he said. "The vacant spaces soon will be filled up and become productive, and new crops such as cotton, sugar fruits, nuts and vegetables, will become important. The mineral and forest resources of Argentina will be developed, new industries will be established to manufacture and utilize the raw material produced in the country, and to supply the needs of a rapidly growing population. New towns give employment to the men and the capital of Argentina."

"I expect these changes to come rapidly, because the people of Argentina impress me as being very adaptable, which is a sign of youth, vitality and intelligence. They are quick to adopt improved methods and can therefore profit by the experience of other countries."

Aluminum Is Metal of Future Say English

London, June 27. (A. P.)—In the confident belief that aluminum is to be the metal of the future a big staff of research chemists is investigating the metal at the National Physical Laboratory at Teddington-on-Thames. Several valuable discoveries have already been made. One of the chemists, J. D. Grogan, had this to say to a reporter: "We have found how to make this metal, hitherto a somewhat poor conductor of electricity, of good conductivity. Aluminum has been slowly replacing copper in electrical undertakings, particularly for high-tension cables, and our discovery will help it to replace it much quicker. This alloy is both cheaper and of higher conductivity than copper, weight for weight."

MEAT FOR BROILING
Meat for broiling should be of the best quality obtainable, otherwise another method of cooking is preferable.

HOTHOUSE TOMATOES
A delicious salad is made by peeling and slicing hothouse tomatoes on a flat dish, then covering them with finely chopped lettuce and celery and mayonnaise dressing.

LUNCHEON DISH
For a luncheon dish sprinkle grated ham and grated cheese over slices of toast and set in the oven until the cheese has had an opportunity to melt.

CLARIFY FIRST
When using drippings for pastry they must be thoroughly clarified first.

FRUIT COMBINATIONS
Combinations of fruit make most delicious and nourishing desserts and are not difficult to prepare. Pineapple and cherries or strawberries or bananas and oranges are much better for summer consumption than pastries.

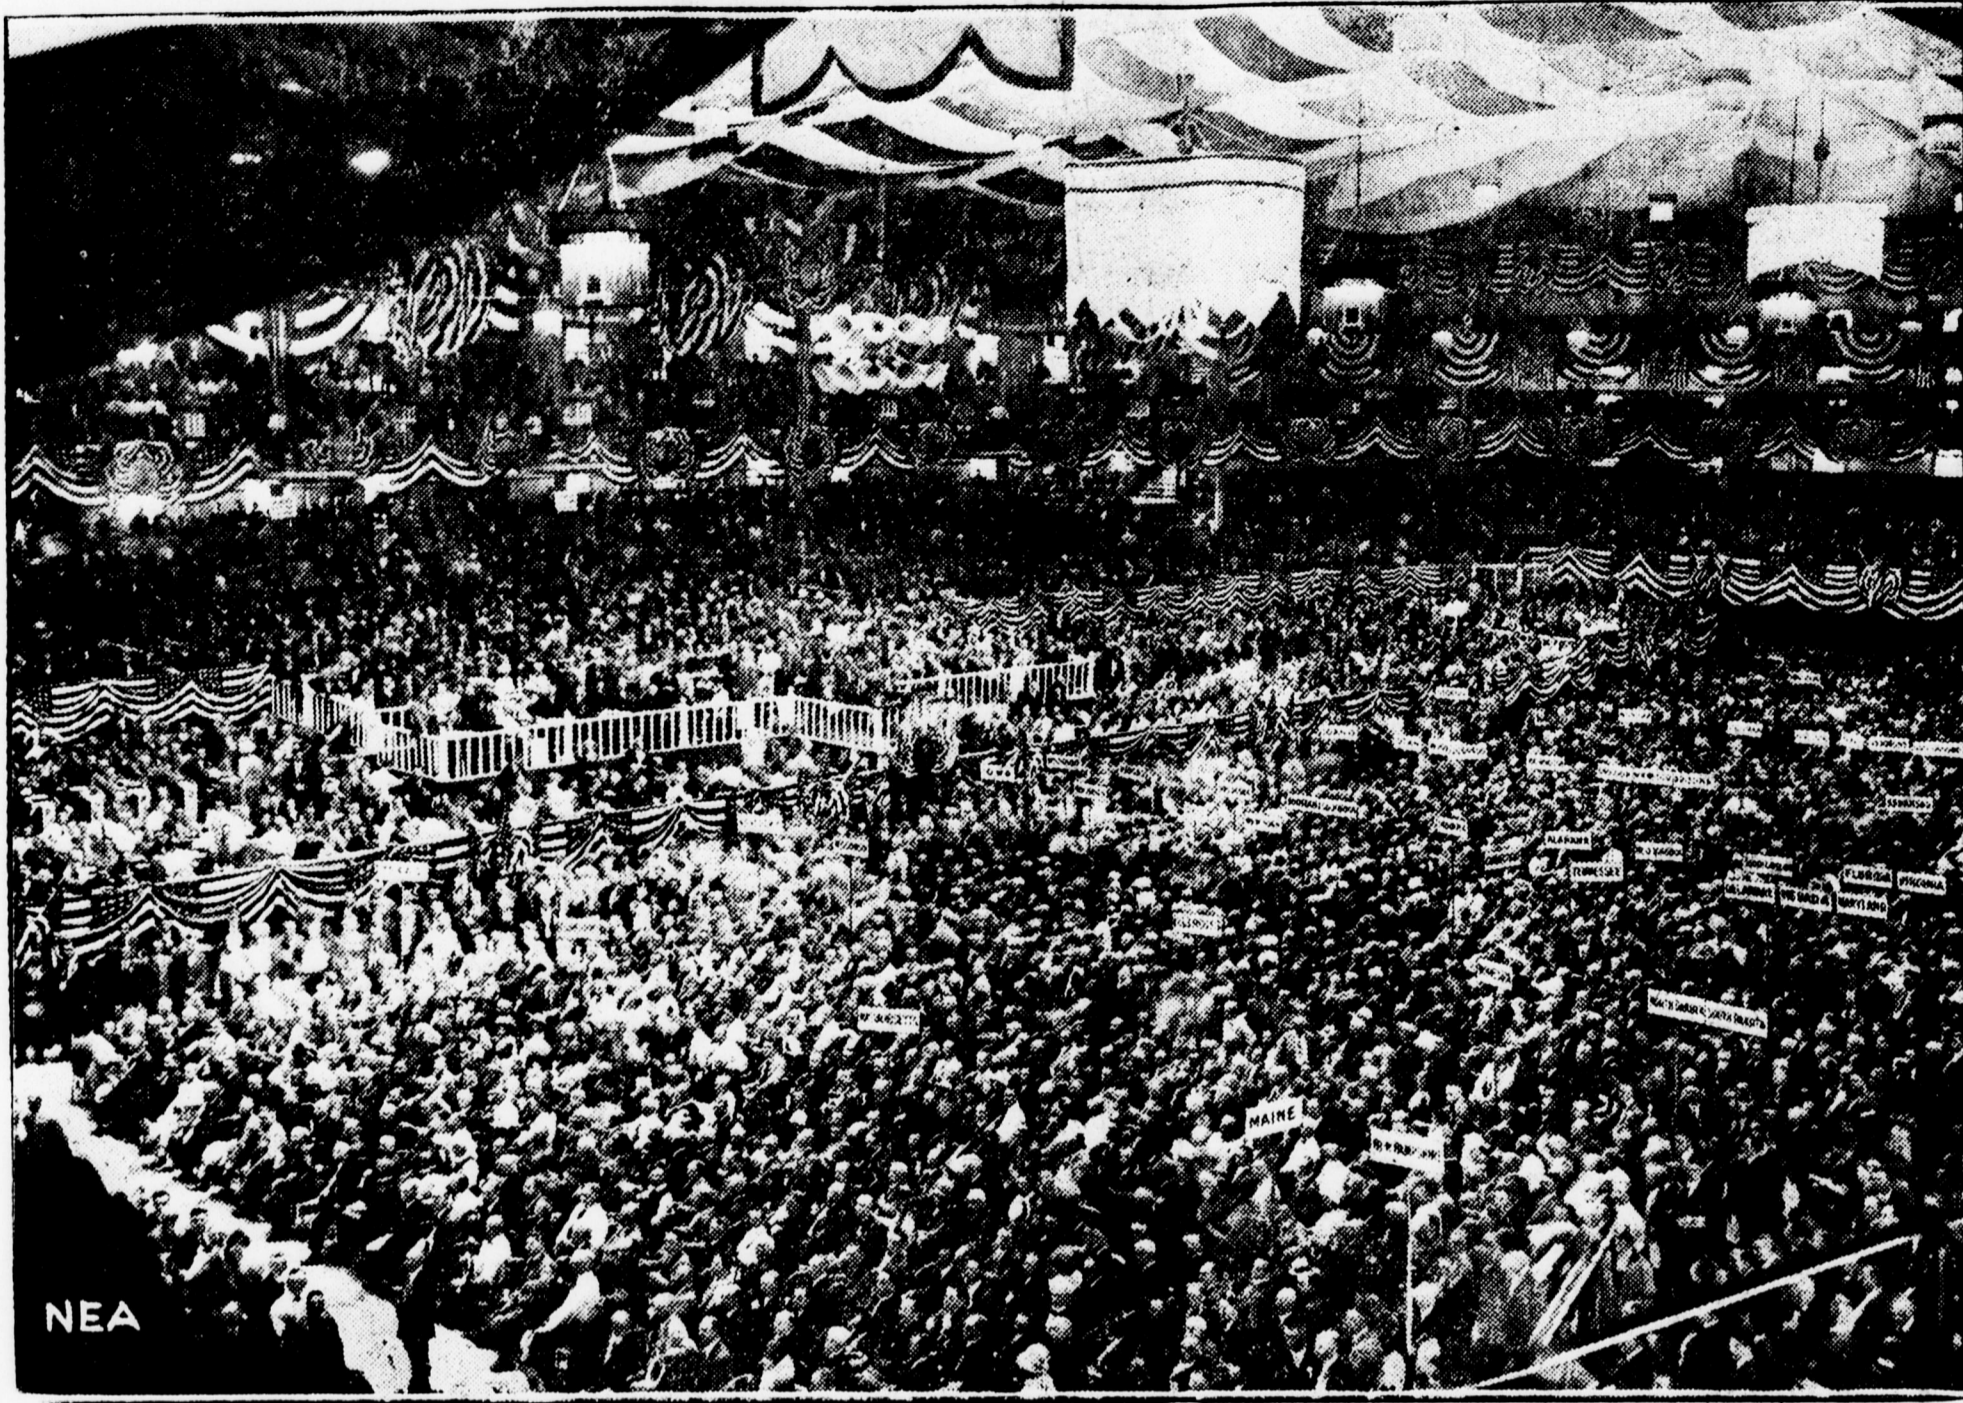

SERVING GOOSEBERRIES
Boil gooseberries in sugar until they are tender, then strain through a sieve and when they are cold serve with whipped cream flavored with lemon. This is recommended for a breakfast fruit dish as well as for dessert.

USE HOT FAT
There is no use in trying to fry articles successfully in fat which is lukewarm, or, in fact, under the boiling point.

GRATED CHEESE
A little finely grated cheese added to thin soup improves the taste immensely.

KEEP SUGAR COOL
If you will keep the brown sugar in an open jar in the refrigerator it will remain soft and free from lumps.

Dry Goods Men To Discuss Lower Costs

St. Louis, June 26.—(A. P.)—Reductions in the costs of retail merchandising that would reflect themselves in lower prices to the ultimate consumer, is the announced theme underlying discussions of delegates to the Controllers' Congress of the National Retail Dry Goods Association here June 16 to 19.

Several hundred representatives of the nation's largest dry goods and department stores will discuss advertising, merchandising, selling costs, insurance, delivery, and warehousing, receiving, checking and marking of merchandise, and other topics concerning retail management.

The keynote of the convention will be an address by Lew Holm, managing director of the National Dry Goods Association. A display of devices used by merchants in offices, salesrooms and accounting departments will be shown during the convention.

"Dancers Heart" Is New Disease

London, June 26.—(A. P.)—One of the most fashionable complaints of the moment is "dancer's heart," according to advices from medical sources. The craze for dancing at all hours and at all times, between meals and between the courses of meals, is having an effect on the most energetic. A visit to the doctor produces the advice: "You have dancer's heart. You are suffering from overstrain. There is only one thing to do, rest for weeks, and no more dancing for months."

Turkish Sword Given Queen

London, June 26.—(A. P.)—There was an interesting little incident at the Rumanian Legation recently, when Queen Marie, on her visit here, was presented by Captain Locker Lamson with a sword captured in Turkey by the unit of British naval armored cars which served in Russia and subsequently fought in the Dobruja retreat. The sword was to have been presented to the Queen when peace was declared, but the ceremony was postponed until she could visit England officially as Queen of a restored Rumania.

Argentina Is Growing Cotton

Buenos Aires, June 26.—(A. P.)—Argentina this year probably will produce 47,000 bales of cotton, figures which denote a material increase in the industry. Capital is going into this new business, attracted by the good profits, settlers are moving into the cotton belt, and a boom in cotton growing and spinning is predicted.

Trace Jazz To German Origin

Heidelberg, Germany, June 26. (A. P.)—Jazz has become such a rage in Germany that musical students have been searching through the works of old masters with the hope of finding inspirations which might be modernized. They contend they have found traces of jazz very suggestive of the jazz of today in some gypsy tunes of Robert Alexander Schumann one of Germany's best known composers of the old school.

TOURING CAR
$1750
f. o. b. factory

THE Big-Six Touring is a seven-passenger car—not merely a seven-passenger body mounted on a five-passenger chassis.

It was designed and built for seven-passenger service—with a motor of ample power and stamina for seven-passenger satisfaction.

Then, too, with the auxiliary seats folded away, the Big-Six becomes the most desirable five-passenger car in which you have ridden, with room enough for all the luggage you will ever need.

Big-Six appearance is attractive, distinctive, and in good taste. Its performance, acceleration, flexibility and dependability are known and respected the world over.

No car, regardless of price, surpasses it in quality or completeness of equipment.

If a smaller manufacturer or assembler were to build the Big-Six—of equal quality and workmanship—his price would be $3,500—perhaps more.

But Big-Six overhead is distributed over six times as many units as are built by any Big-Six competitor, hence Big-Six cost and selling price are surprisingly low.

Don't buy blindfolded. Examine, ride in and drive the Big-Six before you buy any other car.

TEAR OFF THIS COUPON and mail to STUDEBAKER, South Bend, Ind., for interesting book that tells you the important points to consider in selecting an automobile.

Bulgarian Maids Quit When Sun Gets Too Hot

Sofia, Bulgaria, June 26.—(A. P.)—Domestic servants in Bulgaria all throw up their jobs on St. George's day, the first day of the spring season. Neither maid nor mistress expects the relation to continue beyond May 5.

"The reason is found in an old custom. Formerly all young women were needed back on the farms when spring time arrived, and they were permitted to go to the gentry to work during the winter only on condition they would return and help with the plowing. Even if they don't work in the fields today as they used to, Bulgarian girls in service set aside their brooms regularly on May 5, and consider what they will do next. Often, after a couple of days off, they come back to the same kitchen and find the broom just where they left it."
